THE POTTER COMMITTEE.

Extracts from Mrs. Jenks' Correspondence

By Telegraph to the News.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The Potter Committee met at 11 o'clock. Chairman Potter presented the correspondence between Mrs. Jenks, Anderson and others. It was ordered to be printed in the regular proceedings without being read.

Bowles Baker was called, but refused to take the oath in the form required. He was dismissed till the committee considers his case, and takes action thereon

Hon. Charles Foster appeared and requested that if it was their intention to call him, that he be called soon, as he desired to leave the city.

General Butler said the question had been referred to him, and it was not the intention to call him as a witness. He then retired.

Mrs. Jenks then resumed the witness' chair. She said she then had a brother named Adolph R. Murdock, who was formerly a United States mail agent. Potter then endeavored to show that the brother of the witness had recently been appointed in the New Orleans Custom House.

The witness evaded the question by replying she had not been officially advised of his having received the appointment; adding he should have had it a long time ago, and admitting that he had sought his appointment, but had been unsuccessful. She had not heard from her brother nor mother since arriving in Washington. No important testimony was elicited and the witness was excused.

The committee will to-morrow, or Wednesday, adjourn until Monday next.

Mrs. Jenks to-day submitted certain correspondence, including a letter from James Anderson to herself, and dated Philadelphia, March 7th, in which Anderson says he heard that Sherman had fooled her (Jenks) very badly, and that she gave him that letter on promises of pay, and that after getting it he told her to "whistle for the "ding bats." In the same letter Anderson informs Mrs. Jenks that she ought to hear M. S. tell how she tried to "bull doze" him out of a pass. Jenks enclosed Anderson's letter in one from herself to Senator Matthews, and asked for an explanation of the clause in regard to her request for a pass, saying she thought what she said to him regarding her private affairs would be inviolate. Another letter is from Mrs. Jenks to Anderson, dated New Orleans, March 8th, advising him to keep cool and have no fears for her, and also telling Anderson he really had not good sense. In the same letter Mrs. Jenks says in regard to the Custom House and the "bright ones who make the appointments therein. They may all go to His Satantic Majesty." Further correspondence between Anderson and Mrs. Jenks make up the total of that already submitted, in one of which Anderson, while at Philadelphia, in writing to Mrs. Jenks, at New Orleans, states that "she made a devil of a mess out of things in general at Washington." In response to which Mrs. Jenks informs Anderson that there is a place in Baton Rouge which she deems suitable for him. She imagines the regulation of his costume would well become his bright blonde beauty.

THE EUROPEAN CONGRESS.

By Cable to the News.

LONDON, July 1.—A special from Berlin to Reuters confirms the report that the Congress on Friday, unanimously authorized the Austrian occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina. The Turks alone raising objections. The Congress agreed to grant the Turks halting stations on the road to the Balkans, but they will not be allowed to be quartered on the inhabitants. If objections are raised to the acts of Turkish Generals in command, the Consuls will remonstrate, and if no redress is obtained, they will forward protests to the Ambassadors at Constantinople.

A dispatch from Pera says: The Porte is dissatisfied with Coradori Pasha its plenipotentiary to the Congress, possibly Safvet Pasha will go himself to Berlin with final and irrevocable instructions.

A Berlin dispatch says: It has been arranged that the Austrians shall cross the frontier Tuesday.

At Friday's sitting Austria refused to allow Montenegro any portion of the shore south of Antivari.

It was decided in the consequences on the energetic representations of England that the Roumanian delegates be heard to-day, and the independence of Roumania probably be proclaimed.

The plenipotentiaries declared they will sign a final treaty before leaving Berlin, which it is thought will be the 10th or 11th of July.

Surrounded by Indians.

By telegraph to the News

SANFRANCISCO, July 1.—A Baker City Oregon dispatch says a courier arrived here to-day from Canyon City to ask Governor Chadwick for arms and men to protect the citizens of John Day Valley, and states that 15 citizens scouts of Canyon City under Col. Bumham, discovered the Indians near the South fork of John Day river on the 29th inst. Contrary to Col. Bumham's orders, one of the scouts fired upon the Indians, the fire was returned, two of the scouts escaped shortly after the fight began and come to Canyon City for reinforcements, they stated that these companies were surrounded by at least one hundred Indians, and would probably be butchered.

Senator Merrimon's Speech.

Senator Merrimon had a full house at the Metropolitan last night to hear him on a brief review of the doings of the late session of Congress, the present condition of the country. some of the causes that have led to it, and the future outlook.

The speaker, while showing that much good legislation had been accomplished, and some very important for our own State and the South, nevertheless expressed himself as not entirely satisfied with the results, but showed where the difficulty lay—in the two houses, at cross purposes, politically.

He exalted labor, lamented the depressed condition of the laboring man, the general repression of energy and enterprise, and the paralysis of industry. He took a cheerful view of the future, however, and thinks the South has no cause for despair.

The Senator especially exalted his own State, her climate, resources, natural possessions and her people. The speech presented statistical information of value, which will be referred to hereafter. Altogether it was a speech creditable to its distinguished author, and contained not one word of reference to his own political affairs as involved in the senatorial succession. It was the speech he would have made on the night of his return when he was the recipient of a complimentary serenade, and he thanked his fellow-citizens for the compliment to him then and on the present occasion.

A Train Wrecker Confesses.

By Telegraph to the News.

WILMINGTON, DEL., July 1.—Harley Brown, who was arrested on suspicion of having willfully wrecked the express train near Claymont, Del., on Saturday night, by which four lives were lost, has confessed to the act. He accompanied the coroner's jury to the scene of the disaster and illustrated to them the manner in which he arranged the ties, so as to throw the train off. He was then remanded to jail at New Castle. Brown was formerly employed on the road, but was discharged. He claims that he did not intend to wreck the train, but after building the obstruction it was his intention to signal and stop whatever train might come along, and so obtain a situation on the road for himself for what would seem to be a great service. He says he did not know the express was coming, and had calculated only on stopping an accommodation train that followed it.

The Nashville American.

On the 6th inst., the University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, conferred a deserved and unusual distinction on one of its graduates of the class of 1856. The Degree of Docter of Philosophy was conferred on Col. J. B. Killebrew, Commissioner of Agriculture, Statistics and Mines. This is a degree never before conferred on any one outside of the institution. It requires a residence of three years after graduation to obtain it at all. It is a popular impression that college graduates are not practical men, but on the farm and in the service of the State Col. Killebrew has shown that a fine classical schooler and a splendid mathematician can be a practical man.

An Independent Candidate for the House.

Charlotte Observer.

Rev. Dr. W. M. Kerr has about made up his mind to run as an independent candidate for the House. He was in the city a day or two ago and as much as said that this was his purpose. He will run more particularly against Capt. W. E. Ardrey, whose legislative record he proposes to attack. Dr. Kerr [or Grandma Kerr, as he is more commonly called,] is a Republican, but this word has a harsh sound in Mecklenburg, and he thinks that "independent" is rather more savory. Therefore he will be an "independent" candidate.

NORTH CAROLINA'S TEACHERS' GATHERING.

Zeal Unabated and Members Still Flocking to Chapel Hill to Learn the New Methods of Teaching.

Correspondence of the News

CHAPEL HILL, June 29.

Strictly speaking, Saturday is not a school day with the Normal students. Yet there is so much to be done and the time is so short, that the management find it necessary to take a portion of Saturday for lectures. Prof. Hotchkiss delivered his third lecture to-day at 9 o'clock. The lecture was a thorough and comprehensive review of the topography of the world, a discussion of the relative direction of the winds, the phenomena which followed, and the causes for the same. The lecture was supplemented by a study of the map of the world, and especial attention was given to South America Reference was made to the fact that the highest mountains of South America are on the Western side, and of Africa on the Eastern side

At twelve o'clock a large number of the school again assembled in the chapel to hear Prof. Geo. T. Winston's lecture on Latin pronunciation. The lecture was of course intended only for those who take Latin.

I would like to present to your readers a synopsis of the whole lecture, but it would demand too much space. I send you the chief points; as being of great importance to teachers everywhere. The professor said the the two systems of pronunciation which had prevailed hitherto, were the English and the Continental, differing from each other only in the sounds of the vowels. They both pronounced the consonants as we generally do in English, and for that reason were not repugnant to our own habits of pronunciation. The system which he would explain to-day was called the Roman system because its pronunciation was very nearly like that used by the Romans; it was also called the Phonetic system because it pronounced words exactly as they were spelled, always giving the same sound to a letter, no matter what its position may be.

The following table represents the sounds of the letters according to the ROMAN PRONUNCIATION OF LATIN.

Vowels.

Each vowel had a single elementary sound, long vowels differed from short in quantity not in quality of sound. Long a and short a were sounded alike, except that the former required twice as much time for utterance as the latter:

Long.	Short.
a as in father.	a as in dogma.
e as in they	e as in valley.
i as in machine	i as in unity
o as in pole	o as in police
u as in rude	u as in put.

DIPHTHONGS.

The diphthongs unite the elementary sounds of the component vowels, producing the following results:

ae	(or ai)	as	ai	in	aisle
au		as	ou	in	house
oe	(or oi)	as	oi	in	oil
ei		as	ei	in	vein
eu		as	eu	in	feud
ui		as	ui	in	suite

Some scholars contend that ae and oe should be sounded like e. i, e, like e in they. They were so sounded in the later times, during the imperial epoch; but their earlier sounds were as given above.

SEMI-VOWELS.

j was sounded always like y
v was sounded always like w

CONSONANTS.

c always like k g " hard (get) qu-kw
s always like s in sit t always like t in till tio-teeo not sheo
qu followed by u-e (quum-cum): ch-k.

This system is ridiculed and opposed because it is unlike ours. We are so conceited as to think that everybody else must pronounce as we do. No doubt that, if the French language were dead, many people would consider a man cracked if he maintained that the proper pronunciation of gar-con was not gar-kon. Of course we cannot know exactly how the Romans pronounced Latin, but we can approximate; and with regard to certain letters the evidence is overwhelming. Those sounds which are most ridiculed, namely: c like k, j like y and v like w, are established beyond a doubt.

The Professor then discussed the sounds of each of the letters and diphthongs given in the table above, drawing his arguments from the testimony of Latin and Greek writers, from the forms of the Latin language, from its euphonic changes, from words in other Indo-European languages, and from words found on old monuments and tombstones. It would be uninteresting to your readers for me to give you all the arguments presented. Everybody seemed to be convinced. I will, hower, give you three or four arguments in favor of pronoucing c like k, or rather in proof that the Romans did pronounce c like k.

1. There was originally no k in the Roman alphabet. C was used to represent all the k sounds. K never did come into use except in contracted expressions: e g Kal. for Kalendæ (calendæ)

2. The Greeks and Romans were constantly visiting each other's country and exchanging ideas as well as merchandise, of course they wrote and talked about each other's great orators, statesmen, generals etc. Having different alphabets they were compelled to change the letters in the words and names which they adopted from each other. The Greeks wrote Cicero, Ceasar, Virgil etc., in Greek; and the Romans wrote Demosthenes and Socrates in Latin, of course, in so doing they tried to imitate the sounds which they had heard, employing letters in their language equivalent to those in the other language. How, then, did the Greeks write Cicero? They had seen Cicero, talked with him, and heard him pronounce his own name. There was no Greek letter C; but there was a K, and an S, called by them Kappa and Sigma. They had a letter representing hard c and one representing soft c. They wrote Cicero's name not with Sigma, but with Kappa, as follows: Kikeron. What could possibly have suggested Kikeron, if the Roman pronunciation had been Sisero? Not only did the Greeks write Cicero, Kikeron, after talking with that gentleman, but they also wrote Caesar Kaiser!! The professor said that he had heard people laugh heartily over the idea of the honey-tongued Marcus, and immortal Julius being addressed as Kikero and Kaiser. The fact was that they were never addressed in any other way, as proved by the direct and frequent testimony of the Greeks. Not only were these words spelled in Greek with a k, but also, Latin c was always Greek k; and, in changing Greek words into Latin, the Romans always represented Greek k by Latin c.

Latin c was never represented by Greek s (Sigma), as it must have been, if it had been sounded soft before e. or i.

3. Latin words were spelled sometimes with c, and sometimes with k; for instance, decem and dekem; kalendae and calendae, &c, &c.

4. A few Latin forms have been found trans-literated into Greek, namely: fecit, cruces, pacificus, and some others. How were they written in Greek? As follows: phekit, kronkes, pakeiphikos.

5. The Latin grammarian, Quintilian, says that k is a superfluous letter.

6. In declensions and conjugations it is foolish to suppose that c was hard in the Nominative case, soft in the Genitive, hard in the Dative, soft in the Vocative, hard in the Ablative, &c., &c. Yet that is what the English method asserts; e. g.:

amicus (k) amici (s) amico (k) amicum (k) amice (s) amico (k) amici (s) amicorum (k) amicis (s) amicos (k) amici (s) amicis (s)

What reason can there be for such changes of sound? We might as well say, in English, give (jive), gave, given, (jiven), get (jet), got, gotten.

How much more generous to give the Romans the privilege, which we claim for ourselves, to keep a stem-letter hard under all circumstances, if it is hard in the stem. From sing we form singer, (with a hard g), from rag, we make ragged, (hard g), &c., &c. The stem was amico, but the o was lost, leaving amic (with hard c); why not keep it hard, simply adding the endings us, i, o, um, e, o, &c., forming amic-us; amic-i; amic-o; amic-um; amic-e; amic-o, &c., &c. There were several other reasons given for sounding c hard, but this is enough to satisfy a reasonable man. The professor then gave many reasons for adopting this system in the schools and colleges; claiming for it not only that it was more logical than any other, and more like the real classic pronunciation; but also that it was a positive help to the student of ethmology and comparative philology, and that it was indispensable to a proper appreciation of Latin poetry.

He also stated that this system is used at Oxford and Cambridge, in England, in all the German Universities, and at Harvard, Yale, Cornell, the John Hopkins, Michigan University, the University of Virginia and the University of North Carolina.

FORSYTHE COUNTY.

Democratic Convention--Nominations, &c.

Correspondence of the News.

WINSTON, June 27.

At one o'clock to-day the Democrats of Forsythe met in the courthouse to nominate a ticket for the county campaign.

After a Chairman and Secretaries had been seated, they proceeded to business, resulting as follows:

A resolution endorsing the nomination of Dr. W. A. Lash, of Stokes, by that county, was unanimously adopted.

For Commissioner, T. J. Volentine, of Forsythe, was nominated on second ballot, and it was then made unanimous.

For Sheriff, J. G. Hill, the present incumbent, was unanimously nominated by acclamation.

For Clerk, no nomination made as the present incumbent, Mr. C. A. Hauser, is a gentleman acceptable to both parties and his office a non-political one.

A resolution to this effect was adopted.

For Register of Deeds, D. P. Marsh, the present incumbent was by acclamation unanimously nominated.

For Treasurer, C. D. Ogburn, present incumbent was unanimously nominated by acclamation.

Mr. H. Morris for Surveyor, and H. A. Holden for Coroner completed the nominations.

THE TICKET,

The above ticket seems to give universal satisfaction. The greatest unanimity and good feeling prevailed throughout. Each nominee was then called out, and in a brief speech, accepted the nomination.

Our gifted townsman, C. B. Watson, Esq., was then called out and while he was addressing the audience in his usual eloquent style, quite a ludicrous scene occurred, an irate old gentleman of the opposite party imbued with more of the intoxicating beverage than parliamentary decorum, on seeing Mr. Hauser, candidate for Clerkship approaching the stand, rushed forward and attempted to seize him and prevent him speaking, fearing, it seemed that he would identify himself with the Democrats.

This raised a general roar of laughter, which so exasperated the old gent that with clenched fists, he made several pugnacious evolutions in the air, and then a general sweep at the nearest parties, which caused a spontaneous ducking of the heads' darting aside. He was finally seated, but not silenced.

The Republicans nominate here next Saturday.

Willie T. Gray, a pupil of the Winston Male Academy, and brother of your townsman R. T. Gray, Esq., passed his examination as Midshipman at Annapolis, Md., and is now a student in that Institution.

Labor and Wages in Germany.

Washington Paper.

The consul at Brunswick sends to the Department of State a report of labor and wages in his district of Northern Germany. He divides labor into three classes: Mechanics and skilled artisans of all kinds, who receive from 48 to 88 cents a day: ordinary laborers including farm and field hands, who receive from 40 to 64 cents a day, without board; and railway hands, laborers on public works, and the like, who get from 44 to 60 cents a day. A laborer's family of husband, wife and three children, can live very comfortable on 900 marks, (about $215) per annum, and if steady work offers can make both ends meet. In most cases the wife and elder children contribute to the general support by performing other work.

HALIFAX COUNTY.

Ruin of Radical County Rule--Piling Up the Taxes--Chief Justice Smith--The First Chief Justice Smith--The Name of Ashe in Our State Annals--S. A. D.

Correspondence of the News.

LITTLETON, June 20.

The derangement of our affairs is agitating every class and nearly every individual. Under the present system, it is almost impossible to find out anything about its government. The almighty dollar seems to have warped the intellect of some of our Democratic friends so much that they appear to have retired in the arms of Morpheus. While the opposite party oppress us with taxations without reference to the Constitution.

OPPRESSION OF RADICAL COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

Have the county commissioners a right (under art. 5, sec. 1, Constitution, as printed in the laws of '76-'77), to levy more than 66 2-3 cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property? Last year there was 90 cents on the hundred levied, and this year they propose to levy $2 50 capitation tax. Do we understand the Constitution aright, when it says the capitation tax is never to exceed $2.00? In addition to the capitation tax, and in the absence of a special act of the Legislature, can they levy 84 cents on the one hundred dollars? Now that the equation limit has been reached, can the Commissioners, under the authority of of a mandamus, levy this extra tax? They propose to add fifty cents to the poll, in order to satisfy (I suppose) the white people; but that don't work so well, as one-half of the colored people are returned insolvent. And it looks rather bad that some who are returned insolvent hold tax receipts. You will oblige us by answering, through your columns, the above queries. The speculation in county paper is about to ruin us. Certain moneyed men buy up our county paper at 50 cents in the dollar, and to show the effect of the speculation, I will illustrate: There is a county bridge to be built, to be paid for in county paper; the bidders say, well, I know it is not worth over $400; still, as the county paper is only worth fifty cents, I won't take the contract for less than $800, as soon as the order is given the contractor sells this paper (or if he is able commences suit himself) for 50c. in the dollar, immediately suit is commenced against the county, and the consequence is, a mandamus for $800 the face value of the paper, cost and interest. Interest continuing to accrue until paid.

CHIEF JUSTICE SMITH.

The nomination of Hon. W. N. H. Smith, our present Chief Justice was received with enthusiasm through this whole section. The history of North Carolina does not show an abler tickpt. By the way, our present Chief Justice is not the first with the name of William Smith that has held the office. History tells us that in 1731, William Smith from Edenton, was Chief Justice. At the same time John Ashe was counsel to the Governor. The initials of our nominees for the supreme bench is a S. A. D. thing to the republicans. T.

RRPLY OF THE NEWS.

The language of the constitution article 5 sections 1 and 6 would seem so plain as to require no construction. Our Supreme Court in French v. Commissioners of New Hanover 74 N. C. 692, and Griffin v. Commissioners of Pasquotank 74 N. C. 701 (decided January Term 1876) holds that taxation, for State and county purposes combined, for the current and necessary expenses of the county government and new debts, cannot exceed the constitutional limit of 66⅔ cents on the $100 or $2.00 on the poll.

There is only one exception, i. e. when county debts contracted before the adoption of the constitution in 1868 are to be paid. BYNUM J., who delivers the opinion in the first named of the above cases says: "If what are often miscalled the 'necessary expenses' of a county exceed the limitation prescribed by law, the necessity can not justify the violation of the Constitution. In such cases two remedies are open to the county. One is to apply to the Legislature, if the tax is required for a special purpose under section 7; article 5 of the Constitution. The other and better way, however, is to reduce the expenditures." The way the noble old county of Halifax has been fleeced and swindled by Radical harpies is a fair sample of the fate of other downtrodden eastern counties. The "county Government Bill," passed by the Legislature of 1876-'77 will soon put the finances of these counties in the control of the taxpayers when the new County Commissioners to be elected by the Magistrates shall take charge. Then once more THE EAST redeemed, regenerated, and disenthralled will put on its ancient prosperity and bloom and blossom like a garden of paradise ere the serpent came.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Tri-Weekly Index, Columbus, Miss.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi is now a fixed fact. In a short time it will be the duty of the Trustees to put it in operation, selecting its location and electing Professors to direct and control it. This being the case, I suppose they desire suggestions as to suitable persons to fill the Professional chairs.

In this connection I desire to call the attention of the Trustees to the name of Prof. Thomas B. Bailey, of North Carolina, as a man eminently qualified to fill any of the positions in their gift. For many years Prof. B. was a citizen of this city, and by his learning, ability and scholarly attainments attached himself to all classes of our people. Just prior to the war he was principal of the Odd Fellows' "High School" of this city, and enjoyed the respect and confidence of all who knew him. Since that time he has had charge of flourishing institutions of learning in North Carolina.

But having married in this city, and being connected thereby with one of the most influential and distinguished families of the State, I doubt not that he would be willing to return to Mississippi if a favorable position was offered him.

Therefore, I respectfully suggest to the Trustees of the College the name of Thomas B. Bailey, as an erudite scholar, an accomplished christian gentleman, and as a man in every way qualified to place the institution upon a firm and enduring basis. LOWNDES.

BLUE BEARAD AND THE BONES.

A Mystery of the Early Times.

Wilmington Review

We spent a short time, last Tuesday, at the residence of Ex-Sheriff Black, on Middle Sound, and were shown by him the spots in which the human bones spoken off by us some time ago were found. They are turned up by the plow on two different hills in one field, which faces the sea, and in particular places are found in abundance by digging a short distance below the surface. Prof. Kerr should by all means examine these deposits. He made an engagement last summer to do so and appointed a time but failed to come.

There are some old legends connected with this place which abound in interest. Mr. Black's plantation was for several generations in possession of a branch of the Moore family and Col. Moore, father of the late proprietors, is said to have found in the field alluded to skeletons of a man and a horse which he was accustomed to show to visitors. The discovery of the bones is not by any means, therefore, a recent one, but the fact was never published until last year.

It is said that a great many years ago Barren Inlet (which makes in just between Wrightsville and Middle Sounds) carried a good draught of water and that it was then about immediately in front of the Moore homstead. In this Inlet it is averred that the pirate Teach or "Bluebeard" would sometimes sail for the purpose of making such repairs as might be necessary to his vessel and some suppose that these deposits of bones are the remains of his victims, captured at sea. It is in evidence that these remains are of persons, as no Indians tomahawks, arrows or beads have been found. Dr. M J. DeRosset examined some portions of jaw-bone and he averred that they were of whites and we picked up a piece of skull there the other day that could have belonged to neither an Indian or a negro besides, the finding of the skeleton of a horse goes to confirm this view as we all know that animal to have been imported into this country. The remains of an old live oak (a dead live oak!) are shown in this field (the Golgotha, we call it), under which it is said that "Bluebeard" used to rest when his vessel was in the Sound. That these things are not so highly improbable is evidenced by the fact that, as narrated by Dr. Hawks, one who wrote in 1731 alluded to Topsail Inlet (which is only a few miles above Barren Inlet) as "capable of receiving a ship of forty guns, and of containing all the ships in America," and this allusion, as Dr. Hawks thought, was probably meant for the pirate's ship, the "Queen Anne's Revenge," which carried 40 guns.

We would be glad to have Professor Kerr come down here and examine these bones and see if he can enlighten us all.

CABARRUS DEMOCRATS.

The Convention a Failure--The Contest Over the Legislative Ticket--Odell Ahead--The Congressional Race.

Charlotte Observer.

The Democratic convention of Cabarrus county met in Concord yesterday. The following is a special dispatch to the Observer, dated Concord, 8:20 p. m.: "The convention progressed absolutely disgracefully. Every effort to proceed was drowned in confusion. The Means delegates came prepared to break up the convention and let the candidates run independent. The chairmen of the delegations met after the convention and declared for Odell by a vote of eight to three. Johnston and Steele spoke, but no action was taken by the people in reference to the congressional race between these two gentlemen. H."

Questions for Consideration.

New York Tribune.

Is it not the obvious meaning of every form of attack upon invested capital, and every effort to cut down the rewards of that self-denial by which capital is slowly accumulated? "Down "with the banks," cry one set of agitators, for they represent robbery of "labor by usurious interest on money." But banks embody the savings of labor, and reward the economy which has saved. "Down with the bondholders," "cry others; "they get rich while "others sleep or toil." But the bonds are savings of labor in the past, and the interest is a reward for the past toil and economy. "Down with the right of "workmen to work more than eight "hours if they choose," say others. But the plain result is to prohibit those who may wish to earn more money than their fellows from attaining better wages and improving their condition Can a single one be named of the demands now made by labor organizations or trades unions, which does not point directly to that warfare against the whole competitive system, against all freedom of labor to better its condition by individual effort, and against all reward of labor for self-denial and saving of capital, which it is the declared purpose of Mr. Ward's book and of Socialists and Communists to commence and to wage.

Of the nature of that contest, the right and wrong of it, and the effect of desired changes upon the future of labor, it is the more easy to speak fairly in the light of the arguments which Mr. Ward presents. But in the consideration of each branch of his argument it will clearly appear that the Labor agitators of this country are pressing forward, often unconsciously, toward the same revolutionary ends which France tried to reach in the Reign of Terror, and again in the reign of the Commune.

A Stay of Execution.

Experiences of a Physician.

"Save me, doctor, I'll give you a check for a thousand dollars."

The doctor gave him a remedy that soon eased him, and he called out:

"Keep at it, doctor, and I'll give you a check for five hundred dollars."

In an hour more he was able to sit up, and he calmly remarked:

"Doctor, I feel like giving you a fifty dollar bill."

When the doctor was ready to go, the sick man was up and dressed, and he followed the physician to the door, and said:

"Say, doctor, send in your bill the first of the month."

When six months had been gathered to Time's bosom, the doctor sent in a bill amounting to five dollars. He was pressed so cut it down to three, and after so doing, he sued to get it, got judgement, and the patient put in a stay of execution.

RAILWAY SHOWING.

Earnings of the Railroads Throughout the United States.

Charlotte Observer.

The summary of operations of the railroads of the United States for 1877, as given in the advance sheets of Poor's Manual, shows total earnings in 74,112 miles reported of $472,909,272, a decrease of $24,348.687 as compared with the previous year. This decrease is distributed throughout the country, but chiefly in the Middle States, which show a falling off in gross earnings of $21,670,286, due almost entirely to the depressed condition of the coal trade and the decrease of travel, as compared with the centennial year. Omitting the decrease on the 13,607 miles of railroad in the Middle States, the gross earnings on the remaining 60,505 miles show a diminution of only $2,678,401, which is due to the low rates of freight, the amount of freight moved being greater than in any former year. The same is true of dividends as of earnings. The total dividends paid amounted to 858,556,312, being $9,483,356 less than for the previous year. Of this sum $8,799,631 was in the Middle States, of which over $5,500,000 belongs to the Pennsylvania railroad. The railroads of the West and South have shown only a slight decrease either in earnings or dividends. In net earnings the decrease is less by $8,872,632 than in gross—the total net earnings being $170,976,697, against $186,452,752 for the previous year.

About Silver.

Washington Post

THE NEW ORLEANS MINT,

To-day ex-Gov. Hahn, of Louisiana, will qualify as director of the New Orleans Mint, and proceed at once to the assumption of his duties. The coiner, assayer, melter, and refiner will be soon designated by Mr. Hayes, and active operations in coining silver dollars will be at once commenced.

THE SILVER CONGRESS.

Secretary Evarts held a conference yesterday with Messrs. Walker, Groesback and Fenton, the three delegates to the International Silver Congress, and their secretary, and arrangements were made to facilitate the early meeting of the Congress, and for the transaction of such business as should best result in attaining the objects proposed by the bill contemplating the holding of such a body.

THE SILVER MARKET.

The latest quotations from London quotes silver at 52 3-4d., with the market unsettled. It is supposed that Germany has again been selling silver, and there being no demand from India, the price necessarily recedes. There have been some indications that France has been selling silver, but it is not known positively. At San Francisco there has been a better market for silver during the past two months than in London, the amount exported to China having been $5,000,000. It is reported that the Chinese Government have recently negotiated a loan of $7,000,000 in London, and it is supposed that the shipments from San Francisco are on account of this loan.

Rutherford College.

Happy Home Educator.

Rutherford College, in this village, bids fair, at this time, to have more students, and to be more successful in results for good during the next term than at any time since its first organization. There will be some important changes made in its curriculum by the addition of several practical departments. Telegraphy and Stenography, as well as some branches of Agricultural Chemistry will be taught by practical and experienced teachers. There will also, probably, be changes made in the Board of Trustees. The President is determined to make this college equal to any in the South in the breadth and thoroughness of its classical course, while its practical departments will meet an increasing demand of the times. Tuition is low; board from $7.50 to $10 per month, including all expenses. An excellent primary department is attached to the college.

How Two Sundays Can Come in One Week.

In one of Edgar Poe's stories he shows how two Sundays can come in one week. Capt. Boutwell thus explains it: If you establish the city of New York as your prime meridian, and dispatch two ships around the world, one by the route of the Cape of Good Hope and the other by Cape Horn, they will, when they meet on the other side of the globe, differ a day in their time; it may be Saturday on board of one ship, and Sunday on board the other. This is owing to the fact that the planet on which we dwell revolves to the eastward, and the sun appears first in the east, it is noon, or twelve o'clock, on board of the eastern bound ship before it is noon on the western bound ship. The ship sailing east gains time every day, while the ship sailing west looses time, and when they meet the differences of time will amount to a day. He adds that at Samoa he found the Protestant and Catholic missionaries celebrating different days and both were right, because they sailed by different routes from Europe.

Prosecution of a North Carolinian.

Richmond correspondent Charlotte Observer.

The impression this morning is that Mr. Trogden, who is on trial here for obtaining goods under false pretences from several Richmond merchants, will not be convicted. I have heard no one say that he should be, but, on the contrary, that he should be acquitted. The result of the prosecution will have a bad effect upon Richmond trade with Greensboro particularly, because two of the city papers have given the trial so much publicity and attention. If such a case had occurred in a Northern city scarcely an item except for court reports would have been made of it. The cost of the trial to this poor old commonwealth will probably double the amount claimed by individuals. The North Carolina witnesses give Mr. Trogden a good reputation.

Hayes From Home.

Philadelphia Times.

The Republicans of Illinois are not proud of Hayes. In truth, they seem wholly to lack a knowledge of his serene existence, and if they ever heard of him it must have been in some vague and unsatisfactory way. They didn't even take the trouble to make some sarcastic remarks about him, as the Republicans of Iowa did in their platform.

REGISTER. Register. Register.

DEMOCRATS, to the book, and register.

DEMOCRATS of Wake, you will aid your executive committee, and save your county, by registering early. Delay not an hour. Let us not lose in this contest.

FROM almost every Radical ruled and ruined county comes the complaint of the taxpayers of "extra allowances" by the commissioners. The people of Wake are familiar with these extra allowances. Tim Lee's horse stable, for example.

IN Cabarrus, as the intelligence comes, the convention failed to decide on a ticket for the House, and the people have turned loose Col. Paul B. Means and Mr. Odell, for the Legislative race, both Democrats, neither independent, but best man wins.

MOSES A. BLEDSOE has declared himself an Independent Democratic candidate for the Senate. John A. McDonald has declared himself an Independent Republican candidate for the same place, and Jno. N. Bunting is out as an Independent Republican candidate for the House. There are some townships yet to hear from.

A HALIFAX correspondent calls attention to the fact that the initials of our candidates for the Supreme Court indicate a S A D ticket for the Radicals. It may be added, that by the same token our Superior Court ticket is also a G A G (Graves, Avery and Gudger) on their hilarity.

THE Littleton correspondent of the News gives further illustration of the recklessness and ruin of radical rule in county government, and furnishes but another justification for the action of the last Legislature in placing the affairs of the counties in the hands of magistrates of its own choosing. The reader will note the question propounded to the News and the answer thereto. The condition of things there has been lamentable, but relief comes in September, if the people can stand it that long.

The Issue of the People.

Men may moralize as much as they please, spin it out as long as the Pharisees prayed, and draw it so fine that one cannot determine where the profane week leaves off and Sunday begins, yet they can neither alter the logic of events nor successfully combat the sentiment of the people.

The outspoken press of the State, which entertains opinions and expresses them, has been arraigned for departing from Democratic usage, and precipitating on the public issues new and extraordinary in themselves, and dangerous to the Democratic people of the great State of North Carolina. The graves of dead journals are opened to resurrect the fact that no such thing ever occurred before. Antiquity, reposing in the musty files of decayed journalism furnishes no parallel to a newspaper at the capitol of the State declaring the preference of the people on a great public matter of absorbing interest.

Very well. One cannot make an omlette without breaking an egg. The egg has been broken. Expression of the preference of a vast majority of the people has been given through some papers, and editorial declarations made in accordance therewith. On the other side the preference of a minority has found expression in the open columns of a press which parades its preservation of editorial neutrality, but whose letter writers hide their identity behind the responsibility of the editors, who thus give the weight of their reputations and influence to the assaults of an army of anonymous correspondents.

One does not appreciate this distinction, nor understand the object of its drawing, unless it be to illustrate how nicely a distinction may be made without discovering a difference. Papers which convert their matter into campaign documents to aid and accomplish a specific object do not well preserve the marks of their neutrality. Nor are the correspondents of newspapers often found to be out of sympathy with the conductors of the presses for which they write. Opinions are often expressed by proxy. Dickens' old sergeant Bagnet always left it to his wife to give his opinion.

Altogether the News is satisfied with the position it has taken on the Senatorial question. It has taken it in obedience to the will of the people, and it will maintain it. In so doing it has not and does not transcend the rules which should govern a representative of the Democratic party of North Carolina standing at the capitol of the State. It assaults no Democrat in its editorial columns, and permits no assaults upon Democrats from its correspondents. In declaring for Vance it does not go out of its way to depreciate Merrimon. It sees fit to draw no invidious distinction between them. It deals with the matter at issue precisely as it finds it, and presents the two gentlemen as they are. One is the choice of the people for United States Senator, as he has been for eight years, and the other is not; but for that state of things the News is not responsible. It is purely the business of the people. They are responsible for it. The News has only a plain duty to discharge, as the servant of the people, and that it will perform as it understands it, and it is not afraid of the people in the line of its duty. But it would be afraid to fly in the face of the Democracy of this State. It could not hope to survive the act.

The News will not abuse Senator Merrimon, or any other gentleman of the Democratic party, nor permit others to do so through its columns; but it does and will support Governor Vance for the United States Senate.

The Cincinnati Connections.

It was shown in the publications made in the News on Sunday morning that one hundred and twenty-five miles of railroad remain to be constructed to place tide-water North Carolina in communication with Cincinnati and the cities of the North-west.

This connection will be completed at no very distant date, opening up a route through the Piedmont, Western North Carolina, East Tennessee, and Kentucky. The completion of the links between Henry and Paint Rock, in the Western North Carolina, and between Careyville and Livingston, Tennessee in the Knoxville and Ohio Railroads, brings about the connection, taking in the important cities of New Berne, Goldsboro, Raleigh, Greensboro, Salisbury, Asheville, Warm Springs, Morristown, Knoxville and Louisville.

By this is also given connection with Wilmington to Cincinnati, by way of Charlotte to Statesville; and Charleston also gets her Western connection by the Spartanburg and Asheville Railroad, which will reach Hendersonville by the middle of this month, and be completed to Asheville inside of another year. Richmond and Norfolk, too, secure all rail routes to Cincinnati through the completion of the Western North Carolina Railroad. It will therefore be seen of what vast importance the great work through our mountains is, not alone to this State, but to South Carolina and Virginia, as well. And not alone to these but the State of Tennessee also, for it will be remembered what great importance Vice-President McGhee, of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, in some respects a rival line, attached to the speedy completion of our Western North Carolina Railroad.

In this connection a reference to the distances between several Eastern points and Cincinnati, a common centre, will not be uninteresting. Our State line to Beaufort Harbor is four hundred and fifty miles long, the longest continuous line of road in which any State has a controlling interest, and it is more than half the distance from Beaufort or Morehead City to Cincinnati; four hundred miles more over Tennessee and Kentucky roads, bringing this great Atlantic and Ohio line to the Queen City of the West. This when completed brings Cincinnati and the markets of the North West nearer to the the Atlantic seaboard in the States of Virginia, North and South Carolina than any other existing or possible line. It will therefore be seen that upon the enterprise of this old Rip Van Winkle of States, at last depends the triumph of closely connecting the harbors of three important Atlantic States with the waters of the Ohio and the empire of States beyond. Viewing the matter thus, one cannot but exalt his State pride, renew hope and take fresh courage in the race of progress and development. As the News has often said she is the greatest State of all, and there has been and is now wanting nothing on the part of her sons but to keep exalting the horn of the State, and push along.

The distances to which reference has been made are as follows, over the lines through Kentucky, Tennessee and Western North Carolina, already indicated:—Cincinnati to Beaufort Harbor, eight hundred and fifty miles; to Wilmington, eight hundred and eighty-six; to Charleston, seven hundred and twenty; to Richmond, eight hundred and thirteen, and to Norfolk, eight hundred and ninety-five miles.

Honors Abroad.

It is always peculiarly gratifying to record the honors which North Carolinians win abroad, the more so when they are worthily bestowed upon meritorious gentlemen.

The Tennesseeans have been lavish with their distinguished favors upon sons of the old North State. She has honored them without stint, and honoring them she has honored herself. Three times have her adopted sons from this State occupied the Presidential chair from Tennessee. Andy Johnson replied, when it was thrown at him that he had been a tailor, "yes, and I was a good one." These Presidents, Jackson, Polk and Johnson, whom North Carolina loaned Tennessee, to present to the nation, were good ones.

Colonel J. B. Killebrew, a native of Edgecombe county, has for some years occupied the position of Commissioner of Agriculture, Statistics and Mining for the State of Tennessee, in which he has displayed commanding genius and abilities, conferring upon the State of his adoption many and lasting benefits through development of her wealth of natural resources, and to-day there is not a more highly honored or better appreciated gentleman in Tennessee, than Colonel Killebrew. The Trustees at Chapel Hill at the recent commencement conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, and the Tennessee Press is full of congratulation over the event. Why is it that we do not foster the growth of big men here in North Carolina like they do elsewhere? Is it not because our press and people are careless in the matter of State pride? Let these things no longer be.

Mississippi is about to honor another son of North Carolina, and a worthy one he is, in ancestry and antecedents as good as the best, with endorsements and acquirements of the first order. The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi, located at Columbus, is about to call Thomas B. Bailey, Esq., to occupy a place in the corps of its professors. Mr. Bailey is not a stranger to that people, and they know his merits. North Carolinians, remembering his good and honored father, Judge Bailey, would be proud of the mark of distinction put upon their fellow-citizen, and they would most cordially recommend him for the high and responsible station suggested.

THE News reports of Wilson Collegiate Institute last week were full and satisfactory, though, unfortunately delayed one day. But it was not the fault of the efficient reporter, Capt. R. T. Fulghum. The postmark of the route agent showed that he promptly mailed his matter, and no special blame is attached to any one. Considering the onerous duties of route agents and underpaid postoffice clerks, the public suffers so little from mistakes and delays, that no one ought to complain, except in cases of willful neglect, and these, to the credit of the service, are rare. The News tenders its acknowledgements to the mail gang everywhere.

THE county campaign begins on Thursday, the eleventh instant. It should have been fixed for Friday, for it is to be the execution of the Republicans.

DAILY NEWS

TUESDAY.....JULY 9, 1878

e publish by request the following verses, which are much admired in literary circles. There is a weird charm about them which will make them extremely popular with those who delight to dwell on poetic images, evoked by the hand of creative genius from sepulchral scenes and revelations.

The Midnight Review.

At midnight from his grave,
The drummer woke and rose,
And beating loud his drum,
Forth on his rounds he goes.

Stirred by his fleshless arms,
The drum-sticks part fall;
He beats the loud retreat,
Reveille and roll-call.

So strangely rolls that drum,
So deep it echoes round,
Old soldiers in their graves
To life start at the sound.

Both they in farthest North
Stiff in the ice who lay,
And too, who warm repose
Beneath Italian clay.

Below the mud of Nile,
Beneath Arabian sand,
Their burial place they quit,
And quick to arms they stand.

And at midnight from his grave,
The trumpeter arose,
And mounted on his horse
A loud shrill blast he blows.

On airy coursers then
The cavalry are seen,
Old squadrons erst renowned
Gory and gashed I ween.

Beneath their casques their blanched skulls
Smile grim, and proud their air,
As in their bony hands
Their long sharp swords they bear.

At midnight from his tomb
The chief awoke and rose,
And followed by his staff
With slow steps on he goes.

A little hat he wears,
A coat quite plain has he,
A little sword for arms,
At his left side hangs free.

O'er the vast plain the moon
A paly lustre threw
The man with the little hat
The troops goes to review.

The ranks present their arms,
Deep roll the drums the while,
Recovering, then, the troops
Before the chief defile

Captains and Generals round
In circled form appear.
The Chief to the first a word,
Then whispers in his ear,

The word goes through the ranks,
Resounds along the Seine,
That word they give is—"France!"
The answer—"St. Helene!"

'Tis thus at midnight hour
The grand review they say,
Is by dead Cesar he'd
In the Champs Elysees.

EDUCATIONAL.

The Bingham School,

Mebaneville, N. C., surpasses all other similar Schools in the South: 1st, in age; 2d, in the character of its buildings; 3d, in number; 4th, in area of patronage; 5th, in ability to provide profitable employment for its proficient pupils; and 6th, while other expenses are rather below the average this North Carolina School commands somewhat higher tuition fees than any other institution of learning of any grade, for males, in the Southern States. These facts make other testimonials unnecessary.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Magistrate Magnin bound over a number of parties yesterday to keep the peace.

——The drives in Oakwood Cemetery are in a tearful condition. The keeper should look to it and have the many ruts filled.

——The avenues and drives of our city were on yesterday thronged with fashionable "turn outs;" the weather was delightful for driving.

——The number of instruments registered in the office of the Register of Deeds during the month of June, was one hundred and twenty-one.

——Now is the time for merchants and all others in business to render to the Register of Deeds the amount of their purchases for the six months ending June 30, 1878. Failure to do so will subject one to indictment.

——It is to be hoped and prayed for, that the cornet band which practices nightly in the armory of the R. L. I, will soon perfect themselves in the overtures to "Tancredi," Tanhauser" and "Zampa," and then give us something on the order of "Gathering Shells," "Come Birdie," and the like.

Hon. J. B. Killebrew, Ph. D.

The conferring of the degree of Ph. D. (doctor of philosophy,) by the University of North Carolina, on this distinguished gentleman, has met with great gratification in Tennessee. Doctor Killebrew is of Edgecombe stock, and graduated at the University in 1856. His books and pamphlets and speeches have done much to induce emigration to Tennessee, and arouse energy among her people.

Mayor's Court.

Several cases came before his honor yesterday morning: A colored man for being drunk in the market, was fined three dollars; another who was up for assault and battery was discharged at the cost of the complainant, there being no evidence against him; two Sunday drunks had to pay five dollars each and costs; a case of assault and battery was, at the request of counsel, postponed till ten o'clock to-day.

And for an affray two others were fined five dollars.

Bad Behavior in Church.

The congregation of Person street church on Sunday night last was very much disturbed by the bad behaviour of several young men who occupied seats near the door in the rear of the church.

They would pass in and out of the church, talk to each other across the aisles, pass notes, and otherwise disturb the congregation. Two of them were drunk, and the seat on which they sat was mutilated by a large piece being cut out of the back with a knife.

Mayor Manly has been made acquainted with the facts, and has appointed a special policeman to attend the church, and any repetition of such disgraceful conduct will be severely punished.

Oak City Item.

The above is the title of a four page monthly paper, the first number of which appeared yesterday. Of it, it may truly be said that it is a paper "for the young and old," for in it there is wit, humor, and general information. It is gotten up in a most attractive manner; the workmanship displayed on its make-up is fine, and the selections by which it is filled are excellent. The humorous department promises to be the prominent feature of the journal. It is published by the Item Publishing Company: Thomas C. Harris, editor and Robert H. Engle, business manager. The subscription price is twenty-five cents a year, and we advise all who wish to help two deserving young men, and at the same time get a really valuable paper, to subscribe to it. Give the Item a hearty welcome and show your appreciation of it by sending your quarters to the business manager, R. H. Engle, Raleigh, N. C.

An Omaha poker-player was playing cards in a saloon, and there were four in the pot. A dispute arose and he made use of a phrase such as this: "I hope Christ will kill me if it isn't so!" He had dealt the hand himself, and as the betting was over, he passed the cards to the player on his left, who shuffled them and then asked him to cut them, giving him a light tap to attract his attention. The blasphemous player did not stir. He was dead.

Another Richmond in the Field.

Yesterday the following card was distributed generally throughout the city.

To the voters of Wake county:

I hereby announce myself as an independent candidate for the Senate. I will at the proper time and places give my full views on all subjects in which the whole people of the county are interested. I shall not take part in any caucus regarding legislation while a Senator, if elected. All I ask is a fair "shuffle." I will go for the interest at all times of the working-man.

Very respectfully,

Hang Out Your Banners.

Monroe Express.

It would be a difficult matter to tell what the opinions of some of our State exchanges are on questions of public importance, in fact, it would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to find out whether they had opinions at all or not. We would advise the editors of these papers to place in a conspicous position at the head of where their editorial department should be, but is not, this simple legend: "This is a Democratic paper, and its editor is not a dead man,"

The Success of the Fairbanks

Is a shining illustration of the value of skill and integrity in business affairs. a manufacturing enterprise in a remote rural region of Northern Vermont has, by the aid of these two qualities, extended itself over the civilized world. and made its products as familiar in Yokohama and Canton as in New York or Brooklyn, or its in St. Johnsburg. These world-renowned Scales are kept in stock and sold at manufacturer's prices by their agents, the Messrs, Julius Lewis & Co., at their hardware store, Raleigh, N. C.

Normal Music School.

Happy Home Educator,

The Normal Music School at this place closes to-morrow. It has been in operation four weeks, and has been, in point of instruction, a complete success. The number; owing to the busy season, has not been as large as it should have been. Yet every student and all the spectators have been highly delighted and much benefited. The three professors, Messrs. Keiffer, Gentry and Funk are fully adequate to the laborious task of a Normal Music School. We consider any State or community fortunate in securing the services of these gentlemen.

The Opposition to Vance.

Monroe Express

They cannot forgive him for coming into the world with a natural genius that so completely overshadows theirs—inherited, acquired and borrowed. They cannot forgive him for being a popular idol and the choice of the universal people for United States Senator. Why, if Zeb Vance goes to the United States Senate once, the people will want him there always, and that you know will not do.

Prof. Thos. B. Bailey.

Columbus Tri-Weekly Index.

Attention is called to the communication in another column which presents to the Board of Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College Prof. Thomas B. Bailey, as a candidate for one of the chairs of the Faculty to be filled. Prof. Bailey is well known here. He is, as our correspondent says, a scholar and a gentleman, and would fill with credit the position for which he is recommended.

Lucky Lineback.

Winston Sentinel.

At the spring term, 1877, of our Superior Court, Ed. Lineback was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of seven years, but was released at the expiration of one year. This early release was a mystery to our citizens, but we learn that a mistake of the Clerk, (here or at Raleigh, we do not know,) made the transcript out for only one year instead of seven. And that's the way Ed. Lineback, the best fiddler in Forsythe county happens to be at home.

Moffett Bell Punch.

Richmond Paper.

The auditor of public accounts of Virginia has received returns from all counties and cities of that State using the Moffett whiskey register from the date of their being put into operation up to April 30. These returns indicate that the total yield of revenues from the sale of whiskey taxes, etc., will foot up for the year $505,474, as against $202,195 heretofore reported as the amount assessed on liquor in every form for the year 1876-77.

Steele.

Monroe Express.

Hon. Walter L. Steele, came down on the train from Charlotte, on Wednesday night, and addressed a crowd of enthusiastic admirers from the steps of the car. He spoke encouragingly of his prospects, and said there seemed to be unanimity of desire among the people for his return to Congress.

The Art of Prolonging Life.

People generally desire long life and good health. Sickness and premature death are almost always due to violations of the laws that govern our physical being, and of which the masses are ignorant. If men knew better they would do better; but how can they avoid an evil that they know not of? While efforts are made through the public schools to give each child a so-called common English education, yet the children are permitted to grow up and enter upon the responsible duties of active life, profoundly ignorant of the structure of their own bodies, and the laws of physical being upon which their health and lives depend. They are sent to school and crammed with arithmetic, grammar, and geography, by teachers who, in many instances, have never studied physiology and hygiene. They are taught to locate the mountains and trace the rivers of foreign countries, but are never taught to locate even al organs and glands of their own bodies, or trace the veins, arteries and nerves, in their various ramifications. They are instructed in the flow of the tides, and the course of the ocean currents, and the philosophy of winds and storms; but they have no correct conception of the relative effects upon their health of breathing pure or impure air, nor has their attention ever been called to the importance of keeping their bodies clean and healthy by regular bathing. The criminality of such neglect in teaching becomes apparent when we consider that the masses, ignorantly violating the laws of health, bring upon themselves sickness, suffering and death, that might otherwise be avoided. In this condition of things we welcome into being any work that is calculated to impart to the masses a knowledge of the structure of their own bodies, the laws of health, and the importance of observing those laws. We find Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser to be just such a work. It is physiological and pathological, and the major part of it should be converted into a text-book for the use of common schools. Its careful study will enable the healthy to preserve their health, and the sickly to regain health. Every parent should read it, and their children become of proper age instruct them in the all-important truths it contains. Were this done, much suffering and premature death would be prevented, and many a youth saved from a life of shame and licentiousness. The book contains nearly one thousand pages, is profusely illustrated with colored plates and wood-engravings, and can be had by addressing R. V. Pierce, M. D. Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. Price, post-paid, $1.50.—United Brethren Aid Journal. d-w1t.

The Tobacco Tax.

It never fails to releive. Try a box. Price $1.00, sent post paid. Made by the Barham Pile Cure Co., Durham, N. C, 6t.

Consumption Cured.

An old physcian, retired from practice, had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a postive radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for peparing and using, in German, French or English. Sent by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers Block, Rochester, N Y. *

Liver is King.

The Liver is the imperial orgrn of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.
